

What is DIALL?

DIALL is everyone's space; housed in the University of Arizona's College of Education, Room 104. Learn about DIALL in an episode of the Inquiry Oasis Podcast hosted by Interim Dean Regina Deil-Amen! <https://bit.ly/whatisdiall>

DIALL is a space for learning together, networking, and gathering across the College, schools and districts, and the community. It's a place to connect and learn, to take risks in a supported environment where creation and innovation can blossom. We create connections and build relationships as we come together to create, grow, learn together. You don't need to know about technology or digital content creation or have experience. Bring an open mind and willingness to learn into DIALL. You, your teachers, staff, and students can find connections and take steps into digital creation with our support.

What Does DIALL Offer?

Build Community	Engage Hands-On with Support	Time & Space to Work & Be Inspired
Brainstorm	Adapt Teaching and Learning	Engage with Examples with Others
Learn Digital Applications	Watch, Discuss, Learn & Create	Take Supported Risks and Experiment

What is Available in DIALL?

DIALL is a hub for Digital Content Creation in multiple forms. Learn to create stories and meaning with images, audio, video, and music while collaborating with other educators in video making, video editing, and audio/video podcasting.
